Final Project Report

The cooperator surveyed all objects on display at Tumacacori National Historical Park, packed and removed the objects from exhibit, and transported the objects to the Western Archeological and Conservation Center. This included a total of 105 objects. Additionally, the cooperator assisted the park archaeologist with the transport of an additional object being transferred from San Xavier del Bac Mission to the park’s collection.

The cooperator consulted on mounts designed by the exhibit designer.

When the final exhibit list was selected, the cooperator performed the necessary conservation treatments on 42 objects, including six large painted wood santos. The cooperator packed objects for return to the park and transported the large santos directly to the park for display in the new exhibit.

The cooperator packed and transported 15 large ollas, as well as transporting smaller organic collections to Tuzigoot National Monument for return to display in their new exhibit.
