

Williams Hikes

Benham Trail

- Distance: 5.8 miles
- Elevation Gain: 1,456 feet
- Difficulty Rating: 3
  - Accessible year-round. Dogs must be leashed. Short day hike, no water available in the area, but cool temperatures make for a nice summer hike. Mountain biking available.

Bill Williams Mountain Trail

- Distance: 7.3 miles
- Elevation Gain: 2,345 feet
- Difficulty Rating: 5
  - No water available along the trail. Great forest scene. Open to horse riding, hiking, and mountain biking. Dogs must be leashed. Easier to hike in the summer because most of the snow and ice has melted. Don't be fooled though, it's a tough, steep climb that will leave any hiker with a solid pump, working hard for the view at the top.

Clover Spring Trail

- Distance: 2.3 miles
- Elevation Gain: 488 feet
- Difficulty Rating: 2
  - These trails are located on the lower slopes of Bill Williams Mountain. Clover Spring is a small seep once developed as a domestic water supply which now provides water to wildlife. Water from this spring may not be safe for human consumption. Most commonly used for hiking and trail running.

Davenport Hill Trail

- Distance: 5.1 miles
- Elevation Gain: 823 feet
- Difficulty Rating: 3
  - Summit hike with beautiful views. Nice forest scene with change in trees as moving up in elevation. Best used in March-September. Dogs must be leashed.

Dogtown Lake Trail

- Distance: 2.5 miles loop
- Elevation Gain: 62 feet
- Difficulty Rating: 1

- Features a beautiful lake. Dogs must be leashed. Nice, friendly hike to admire nature. Perfect for the beginner hiker or anyone looking for a relaxing walk.

Dude Mountain

- Distance: 1.3 miles
- Elevation Gain: 370 feet
- Difficulty Rating: 3
  - Primarily used for hiking and trail running. Nice trail to do when staying at the campground. Semi-steep, short trail with some loose rocks that ends with a beautiful view.

Gasline Loop

- Distance: 1.7 miles loop
- Elevation Gain: 187 feet
- Difficulty Rating: 1
  - Best used from April-September. Beautiful wildflowers. Lots of shade from trees, but still bring water. Be mindful of footing on loose rocks. Enjoy a relatively flat walk through the woods with the perfect balance of shade and sun.

Keyhole Sink

- Distance: 1.3 miles
- Elevation Gain: 95 feet
- Difficulty Rating: 1
  - Features a waterfall. This trail provides the visitor with an easy to hike pathway to a scenic box canyon where prehistoric residents left petroglyphs carved into the canyon's gray volcanic walls. Best used March-November. Dogs must be leashed.

Summit Mountain Trail

- Distance: 2.5 miles
- Elevation Gain: 652 feet
- Difficulty Rating: 3
  - Best from September- April. Beautiful wildflowers. From the end of the trail you will find an excellent vista of the forest and rim country as it falls off to the headwaters of the Verde River and the distant Mingas and Bradshaw Mountains. The well defined trail climbs steadily up 650 feet over its mile length through a forest of ponderosa pine, Gambel oak and alligator juniper.

Sycamore Rim Trail

- Distance: 11.1 miles
- Elevation Gain: 1,181 feet
- Difficulty Rating: 4

- The trail forms a loop with access at several points along it. Features a waterfall. Dogs must be leashed. The southern and eastern portions of the loop follow the rim of Sycamore Canyon. The northern and western sections travel through ponderosa pine forests. The entire loop may be traveled from any of the trailheads, or hike a segment of the trail by shuttling between trailheads. Motorized vehicles and horses are not permitted. Very popular area for rock climbers. Mountain biking is allowed outside the Wilderness boundary.
